

April 2012 BOM

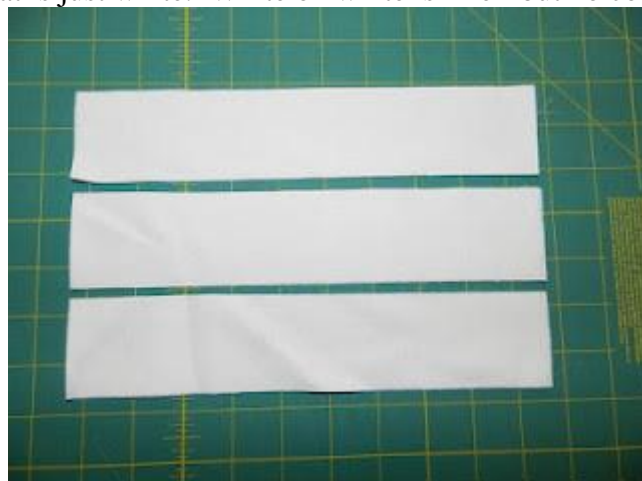

First, cut yourself a 9 1/2 inch square (or two or three.....)

Next slash it randomly in two - DO NOT MEASURE! It is not suppose to be perfect.

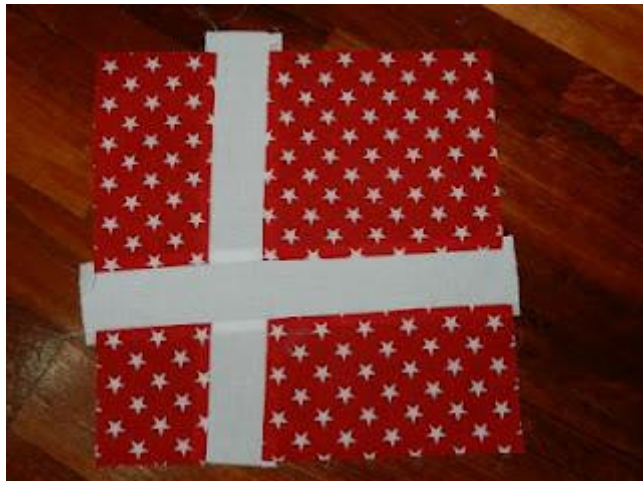

Now cut yourself some 9 1/2" by 2" strips in white - I used quilters muslin, you can use anything that is just white. White on white is fine - but no colours please.

Take one strips and insert it between the two pieces and sew together. This is what you end up with. Press the seams away from the white.

Slash your block again in the opposite direction and add more white. This strip will be longer than 9 1/2" I didn't measure it - as I was making more than one block I just cut a 2" strip and chain pieced, cutting the white strip free hand a little longer than each block. The "hardest part is aligning the second half of the block - just align it roughly so that the coloured edges are as even as you can get them. All the blocks will be trimmed when I receive them. Please don't trim them.
